Contents

Understanding technologies of early trade in a comparative perspective
Part I: Weights and Merchants
Carsten Jahnke Trade in different worlds. Trade between Western Europe and Novgorod from the end of the Viking Age to the time of the medieval Hanseatic League
Natascha Mehler, Mark Gardiner Coinless exchange and foreign merchants in medieval Iceland (AD 900-1600)
Gojko Barjamovic Technologies of trade in Western Asia in the Middle Bronze Age
FELIX RÖSCH The technology of medieval maritime trade. An archaeological perspective on northern Germany and beyond
ELIZABETH LAMBOURN Trade and containerisation. Perspectives from the medieval Indian Ocean world
Anthony Harding The movement of commodities in Bronze Age Europe
RODNEY AST Marcus Laelius Cosmus. Italian merchants and Roman trade at Berenike under the Julio-Claudian emperors
CLAUDE MORDANT, REBECCA PEAKE, MAFALDA ROSCIO Weighing equipment in Late Bronze Age graves in the Seine and Yonne valleys
PIOTR STEINKELLER International trade in Greater Mesopotamia during late Pre-Sargonic times. The case of Ebla as illustrated by her participation in the Euphratean timber trade

Part II: Weights and Money

FRANÇOIS R. VELDE A functional approach to money in the ancient world
GEORG CHRIST Weights, measures, monies: Venetian trade in Mamluk Alexandria within an imperial framework 207
SIBEL KUSIMBA, CHAPURUKHA M. KUSIMBA Cowries and blood. Money, value, and relationships in precolonial East Africa
CHRISTOPH KILGER What Viking merchants had in mind. Exploring Islamic weight standards and weighing practices within early medieval trading networks
CLIVE STANNARD Small change in Campania from the fourth to the first century BC, and the newly discovered Second Punic War Roman mint of Minturnae
ALAIN BRESSON Metal-object currency before coinage: China and the West
GARETH DALE The infinite silver of Xenophon. Money and growth in Classical Athens
Julien Zurbach Metal money before coinage in the Aegean, ca. 1400-600 BC
JAN GERRIT DERCKSEN Money in the Old Assyrian period
Author Guidelines